DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: basis should be provided for the terminology of "a frontal hemisphere" and "a rear hemisphere" as set forth in claim 12.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 and 3-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Her-Mou in view of Fleming et al. Her-Mou shows a helmet shell 2, a shield 7, an insert 21 having slots as at 241, 242 extending therethrough, tube inlet 3, 40 defining a channel extending from a upper proximal end to a lower frontal distal end adjacent the slots as at 241, 242. Her-Mou does not teach the shell being formed from an impact resistant material and the insert being formed from an impact absorbing material. Fleming et al. teach old and well known the formation of a shell 10 from impact resistant material (see column 2, line 50) and of an insert 90 from impact absorbing material (see column 5, line 53). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to form the shell 2 and insert 21 of Her-Mou of the materials of Fleming et al. to establish impact resistance for the shell and impact absorption for the insert. With respect to claim 3 note the slots as at 241, 242. With respect to claim 4 note the integral construction of the tube inlet at 3 and shell at 2 of Her-Mou. With respect to claim 5 note the use of polystyrene in Fleming et al. (see column 5, line 53). With respect to claim 6 note the single channel equal to the single slot at 241.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claim 2 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
5. Claims 12-17 are allowed.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Note particularly, the materials of the shell and insert of Maki et al. and the arrangement of the channels of Sayre, Huang, James, Giancarlo et al., Summers, Depping, Tucker et al., Shepard, Cialone and Japanese patent to Schmidt.
